

MODERN SLAVERY ACT COMPLIANCE STATEMENT

This statement has been published in line with the requirements of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and sets out the Company's position on the prevention of modern slavery and human trafficking for the year ending December 2023. It was approved by the Board of Directors in June 2024, being signed off by our Commercial Director, Damian Whitham.

Brook Street (UK) Ltd takes the issue of modern slavery very seriously with a zero-tolerance approach to the subject with continual review by the Board and our Operational teams. We work with our clients and registered work seekers as part of our attempts to expose any incidents of modern slavery in the workplace. Our efforts have continued throughout 2023 and we are pleased to report that no incidents were identified in the last year. We are in support of the Act and will not knowingly work with any businesses found to be involved in modern slavery.

Our Business

Brook Street first opened its doors in 1946, founded by Margery Hurst who set to work with little more than an idea and a drive to succeed. Her ambition was clear; following the end of World War 2 to deliver a quality recruitment service and to supply London with talented temps. Over 75 years later, our founder's drive remains ingrained in the way we work. We've grown into one of the UK's leading recruitment agencies – matching thousands of people with meaningful job opportunities at more than 4,500 companies every year. Delivering a quality service to suit the needs of clients and candidates alike was important to our founder Margery Hurst and it remains important to us today.

Across our locations, we make hiring and job searching more personal. Our nationwide reach means we can engage with jobseekers and employers in person, allowing us to perfectly tailor our approach to their unique requirements. But we also have the nationwide infrastructure and innovative technology that's needed to make the process seamless and hassle free. That's why jobseekers turn to us when they're looking to change roles, take the first step into employment, or re-enter the workplace. And it's why employers across all sectors trust us to find their ideal new recruits, no matter how big or small their hiring requirements.

Our Policies

Brook Street policies are established by our Board of Directors, based on advice from HR professionals, industry best practice and legal advice. We review our policies on a regular basis, and as needed, to adapt to changes.

As a company we have the following relevant policies in place:

- Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy sets out our zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in our own business or within our supply chains.
- Ethical Purchasing Policy stipulates the conditions under which the Company will conduct its business in respect of the procurement of all externally supplied goods and services and requires our supply chain to provide positive assurance towards, including but not limited to, zero tolerance on human trafficking and use of any form of forced or compulsory labour and freedom of employees.

- Code of Business Conduct and Ethics promotes honest and ethical conduct throughout the Company, as well as provides a mechanism to report unethical conduct via the Ethics Hotline to help preserve our culture of honesty and accountability and is part of our annual update training undertaken by all employees.
- Whistleblowing Policy: sets out our position on whistleblowing and encourages the reporting of any legal or regulatory violations or any failure to comply with internal regulations, ethical standards and legislation.
- Supply Chain Business Partner Policy details our expectation of suppliers to adhere to our ethical and social standards including minimum labour standards.
- Environmental, Social and Corporate Governance (ESG) – Working to Change the World is an evolution of our previous Sustainability Plan and Pillars to encompass broader ESG priorities and align with common industry metrics, centring around three key themes, one of which being 'People & Prosperity'. Our approach reflects both the World Economic Forum's International Business Council Stakeholder Capitalism Metrics and our focus on prioritising the five UN Sustainable Development Goals where we can deliver the greatest impact.

These policies are available to all employees on the Company intranet and are first introduced as part of their initial induction when joining the Company. Adherence to our policies is expected of all employees.

Any employee who breaches our policy on Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal for misconduct or gross misconduct. We may terminate our relationship with other individuals and organisations working on our behalf if they do not meet our corporate expectations.

We review our policies and procedures on a regular basis and as legislation may dictate to ensure not only ongoing compliance to our standards but also that our supply chain shares the same principles and commitment to the Modern Slavery Act.

Our Processes for Managing Risk

Our standard practices are designed to protect and promote human rights and fair labour practices throughout the recruitment, selection and employment of both our employees and the work-seekers we place with our clients. Brook Street operates within all applicable recruitment legislation.

We take our obligations seriously regarding the provision of temporary workers and have established and audited procedures to ensure that they are not at risk of modern slavery.

During 2023:

- all existing employees have completed refresher ethical, including modern slavery training annually, part of which includes the Modern Slavery policy,
- our Compliance and Audit team carried out audits of our branch network. These audits include establishing we hold appropriate eligibility to work documentation, proof of national insurance numbers, references and qualifications (as relevant) for all our worker-seekers,
- our Payroll Department carried out regular checks on our worker-seekers' bank details to identify where individuals may be sharing bank accounts, or addresses, as this could be an indication of illegal behaviour,
- all worker-seekers continue to have on-line access to their weekly pay records allowing them to view all deductions we legally make from their salaries.

Due Diligence

A commitment to human rights, fair labour practices and ethical business dealings is essential to our principle-based culture. Brook Street:

- is a member of the Recruitment and Employment Confederation (REC) and has representation on their Employment Policies Committee;
- has held a corporate Gangmasters Licence since the inception of the Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA), formally known as the GLA, which was formed as an independent body arising out of the Gangmasters (Licensing) Act 2004. Its Mission Statement is to work in partnership to protect vulnerable and exploited workers;
- is part of the group of organisations that founded JobsAware a brand of SAFERjobs (Safe Advice for Employment and Recruitment). This is a non-profit organisation which started out as a Metropolitan Police Fraud Forum within Operation Sterling in 2008 and their aim is protect and advance worker rights in the UK, in three important ways:
 - Ensuring all workers and work-seekers in the UK have access to free help and advice.
 - Working with employers and recruitment businesses to help prevent job scams and labour market abuses.
 - Bringing the voices of workers and businesses to UK Gov, to help inform labour market policy.
- JobsAware works with the Metropolitan Police, Department for Business & Trade (DBT), HMRC, Trading Standards, Crown Commercial Service, Disclosure & Barring Service, Disclosure Scotland, recruitment industry trade associations and private sector recruitment businesses;
- is a member of the Association of Labour Providers (ALP) a not-for-profit trade association promoting responsible recruitment within the food industry;
- seeks positive assurance, within our UK supply chain, that they agree to comply with the principles of our Supply Chain Business Partner Policy, which forms part of the contract with our supply chain. Where appropriate, we carry out due diligence on prospective suppliers, as well as auditing existing and prospective suppliers about legal and contractual compliance;
- takes a risk-based approach to addressing concerns that may arise from our supply chain. Modern Slavery considerations are included as part of our risk management and supplier selection processes. We also review how we align with our suppliers on this issue. We expect all suppliers to operate in accordance with our Supply Chain Business Partner Policy. We procure that our supply chain disseminates these terms down to their own suppliers and subcontractors.

Training

Our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics provides guidance to all our staff on the conduct of our business according to the highest moral standards. The Code and our other ethics policies help to focus our staff on the areas of this type of risk. It offers guidance in recognising and dealing with any ethical issues and provides mechanisms to report unethical conduct without fear of retaliation.

The code provides a compliance hotline for employees to inform (on an anonymous basis) any concerns with activities of the Company or the supply chain. This can be found on the company's intranet.

All staff are required to complete the Business Conduct and Ethics training and certification annually to build their training and knowledge on the subject.

Additionally, where we have supply arrangements in a sector where the use of modern slavery practices is a known concern (e.g. food pickers and packers), we have introduced further training from Stronger Together for the recruitment teams involved. Our membership of ALP has also provided us with access to further training resources on this and other recruitment issues.

Our Performance

In 2023 we partnered with TENT Partnership for Refugees, made up of more than 400 major multinational companies. In 2024 ManpowerGroup UK joined TENT UK, a coalition of 70 major companies from across the country stepping up to help refugees enter the British labour market through job preparation and employment.

The coalition is committed to supporting refugees through hiring, training, and mentorship. The organisation supports refugees who can be some of the most vulnerable in our society and therefore prey to modern slavers.

World's Most Ethical Companies 2023 - Ethisphere has recognised ManpowerGroup for the fourteenth year as a World's Most Ethical Company for its proven commitment to ethical leadership, compliance, corporate social responsibility, and business practices at large. We are one of only two companies in our industry to earn this award.

Glass Lewis Sustainalytics ESG Rating 2023 - ManpowerGroup's performance in environment, social, and governance (ECGESG) has been recognised by Sustainalytics. We're proud to be leading in our industry in ESG – as well as being in the 2nd percentile of All Companies (252 out of 15,518) and 9th percentile in Commercial Services (38 of 438).

There haven't been any breaches of the Modern Slavery Act reported during 2023. As to the future, we will:

- provide annual CSR training update including Modern Slavery to all our employees,
- promote the importance of human rights across our business,
- carryout internal audits of our branch network.

We are committed to ensuring there is transparency in our own business and in our approach to tackling unethical business practices, including modern slavery, throughout our supply chains, consistent with our disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2015.
